Ohio Legislature Convenes on Jobless Pay Bill

DiSalle Asks Benefits Be Extended From 26 to 39 Weeks

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—Minority Republicans went into the special session of the Ohio legislature with the fate of an unemployment benefit extender bill placed in their laps.

The special session, called by Gov. Michael V. DiSalle with the backing of the Democratic members of the General Assembly, convened at 11 a.m.

DiSalle called the special session to consider his proposal for temporary extension of maximum unemployment payments from 26 to 39 weeks, because, DiSalle contended, of the increasing number of Ohioans out of work.

Democrats Have Majority

Democrats have a majority in both houses, but Republican backing is needed if the special legislation is to get the required two-thirds vote for enactment. The proposal would permit unemployed workers who have exhausted regular benefits since last Jan. 1 to apply for a maximum of 13 weeks of additional benefits until March 31.

Republicans say the proposal could wait for consideration until the next regular session of the legislature convening Jan. 2 under GOP control. They have declined to promise the votes needed for emergency approval pending special session review of DiSalle's unemployment figures.

DiSalle claims his proposed extender is virtually the same as the one passing easily during a 1955 special session called by then Republican Gov. C. William O'Neill when the GOP controlled the General Assembly.

Unemployment Increasing

But, DiSalle said, unemployment in Ohio at that time was decreasing, while now it is increasing. And he added that increasing unemployment would put an added burden on local governments already hard-pressed to meet poor relief demands.

DiSalle has gone to some length to bolster his claim that unemployment had reached a point where it should be dealt with immediately to prevent serious consequences. He released his message for the special session and the extender proposal after sending copies to legislators in advance of the lame duck session.

DiSalle says Ohio unemployment now is substantially above the national average of 4.4 per cent of those covered by the unemployment compensation law.

Pointing out that many of those exhausting their regular jobless benefits would move onto local

4 Tuscarawas Jail Escapees Are Hunted

NEW PHILADELPHIA, Ohio (AP)—Authorities early today were seeking four of the five prisoners who fled on foot after following a minister from the Tuscarawas County jail Sunday night.

The five rushed through a door that was opened to allow the departure of the Rev. George T. Smith of Winfield, who had been preaching a sermon for their benefit.

Paul E. Samples, 19, of Walton, W. Va., was captured four hours later at a roadblock in nearby Uhrichsville. He was in a car with friends who said they were taking him back to the jail where he was held on a charge of contributing to the delinquency of a minor.

Norman Clugston, 38, a radio dispatcher at the sheriff's office, said the four still at large were not armed and none was considered dangerous. Clugston was knocked aside by the jail door when the five escaped but was not hurt. He identified the fugitives as:

Willie Gooch, 42, of Dover, who was held on charges of grand larceny, breaking and entering and parole violation.

Dale Lee Menefee, 23, Canton, automobile theft and parole violation.

Norman Orr, 23, Ghadenhuten, breaking and entering an uninhabited dwelling.

Talks Continue With USPA IBOP Signs With 6 Firms

Labor and management reached agreement Saturday night at Cleveland on a new two-year working contract affecting 19 Chinese ware plants which provides for employer contributions to a health and welfare plan and a pension plan, an additional paid holiday and a three-cent hourly pay boost starting in December, 1961.

Signed With Six Firms

The pact was signed by the International Brotherhood of Operative Potters with the Sterling China Co. and the Wellsville China Co., both of Wellsville; the Walker China Co. of Bedford; the Buffalo China Co. of Buffalo, N.Y.; the Mayer China Co. of Beaver Falls and the Jackson China Co. of Falls Creek, Pa.

It affects an estimated 1,800 IBOP members in the six plants. Manufacturers agreed to assume the cost of a health and welfare program by contributing $9.67 per month per employee.

Management also will make a contribution for the start of a pension plan for employees. They will contribute one and one-half cents per dozen of ware shipped, beginning Jan. 1.

3-Cent Pay Raise

A three-cent hourly pay raise will go into effect Dec. 1, 1961. Thanksgiving was added to the list of paid holidays, bringing the total to six. Paid holidays at present are Christmas, New Year's Day, Memorial Day, July 4 and Labor Day.

Labor and management agreed to share the cost of bringing in mutually agreeable consultants to study plant operations with a view to improving plant efficiency.

Speech Punctuated by Noise Bombs

Castro Hints at Softer Policy from Kennedy

HAVANA (AP)—Fidel Castro hinted today he expects a softer policy toward Cuba when John F. Kennedy becomes president. The bearded prime minister's rambling speech was punctuated by noise bombs exploding in an unprecedented show of force by his enemies within Cuba.

In a 2½-hour speech at Havana University, Castro also accused

Roman Catholic priests of taking money from sugar companies to preach against his revolution and suggested a new policy for the state-run sugar industry may be in the works. It may be aimed at flooding world markets and eventually giving Cuba more control over prices.

Two small noise bombs went off while Castro spoke. The second brought him to his angriest pitch. Shouts of "pardon" (to the execution wall) went up from the audience.

"Don't worry. Don't worry," Castro admonished the crowd. "Those bombs are not set off by peasants, by the humble. They are set off by those who kneel before foreign interests, by those who would like to see bloodshed in the country."

Despite heavy police concentrations around the university, two bombs also went off while Castro was waiting to speak.

Altogether 19 explosions were counted throughout the city and its suburbs as Castro's opposition staged its biggest noise bombing since Castro gained power almost two years ago. Sporadic bombings have become an almost nightly occurrence in Havana.

Castro was as caustic as usual in his criticism of the United States. But he appeared to open the door slightly for an conciliatory move by Kennedy, although he indicated Cuba would not take the initiative in any fence mending.

Lana Turner Married for Fifth Time

SANTA MONICA, Calif. (AP)—Lana Turner, whose two decades of movie stardom included box office triumph and personal tragedy, is honeymooning today with her fifth husband.

The blonde actress, still beautiful at 40, was wed Sunday night to rancher-sportsman Fred May, 43, her sleeky escort for six months.

Only a few friends and relatives attended the surprise ceremony in a penthouse suite atop a pink stucco hotel in this seaside town.

The couple took out a marriage license three months ago. It would have expired today.

Saturday they told newsmen they were temporarily postponing the marriage because of Lana's career commitments.

"After all," Miss Turner explained, "a license only costs $2." But they decided to get married on the spur of the moment Sunday, the actress' secretary said.

The secretary added: "The gentleman just asked her and she said yes."

The guests included Lana's mother, Mildred Turner, and Cheryl Crane, the actress' 17-

White Pupils Boycott Schools In New Orleans

City Awaits Ruling
On Bid to Suspend
Integration Order

NEW ORLEANS (AP)—White students from two nearly integrated public schools flocked to nearby segregated schools today in a boycott nearly 100 per cent complete.

Three Negro girls entered McDonogh No. 19—one of the two integrated schools—at 8:45 a.m. (CST) today. One woman among the 100 or so white spectators yelled:

"You've got the whole school to yourself now."

Reopen After Week's Recess

The city's public schools reopened after a week's vacation due to a teachers' convention. But there appeared to be no letup in objections to school integration as ordered by a federal judge.

President Armand Duvoie of the education cooperative at the William Frantz school—where one Negro girl attends the first grade—said buses took 104 Frantz students to schools in neighboring St. Bernard Parish (county).

The city tensely waited for the ruling of a three-judge federal tribunal, considering a request to suspend temporarily the integration order pending the settlement of state and federal differences. Their opinion was expected today. Chartered buses took the boycotting white children to schools in St. Bernard Parish.

There were no incidents at either school.

Duvoie said collections for private schools for Frantz and McDonogh No. 19 students over the weekend totaled "a little over $2,000."

U.S. Dist. Judge J. Skelly Wright ordered integration of first grades Nov. 14.

The panel considering the school board's petition includes Judge Richard T. Rives, chief judge of the U.S. 5th Circuit Court of Appeals, U.S. Dist. Judge J. Herbert Christensen, and Wright.

The panel also had before it a state suit asking that all school integration orders be tossed out, and a federal petition that the state be permanently restrained from interfering with public school administration.

The conflict left a legal tangle that caused New Orleans public school teachers to miss last Wednesday's monthly payroll. The school board said the legislature had stripped it of funds to meet the $2,325,000 payroll.

The legislature then appropriated funds, and teachers were told they would begin receiving their paychecks today. Then, Sunday night, House Speaker J. Thomas Jewell said it would be Wednesday before the payroll could be processed.

Most of the 90,000 public school pupils who had a week-long holiday last week because of teachers' statewide meetings and the Thanksgiving holiday, were expected back in school today.

School Supt. James F. Redmond predicted operations throughout the city would be near normal except for the two integrated schools.

$8,401 Is Collected In Yule Seal Drive

LISBON—A total of $8,401.25 has been collected in the county Christmas seal drive, Miss Lillian Schroeder, executive director of the Columbiana County Public Health League, reports. The figure is about 25 per cent of the goal.

The following breakdown lists the amounts collected by the townships and their goals in parentheses.

Butler and Knox, $331.50 ($1,000); Center, $588.50 ($400); Elk-rush, $51 ($200); Fairfield, $866.75 ($3,300); Franklin and Wayne, $47 ($200); Hanover, $189 ($650); Liverpool and St. Clair, $2,203.30 ($9,225).

Madison, $44 ($200); Middleton, $88 ($475); Perry, $2,004.50 ($7,400); Salem, $396.75 ($1,500); Unity, $742.50 ($3,000); Washington, $151.45 ($650); West, $95.50 ($400); Yellow Creek, $601.50 ($2,400).

Take Part In Washingtonville Church Event

Trinity Evangelical Lutheran Church of Washingtonville marked its 150th anniversary Sunday, with 95 taking communion during the worship hour.

Guest speaker was Dr. Herbert W. Veler, president of the Synod of Ohio of the United Lutheran Church of America. His talk dealt with events in the church during the past 150 years. The pastor, Rev. Paul J. Kornthuer served as liturgist, with Rev. S. D. Myers of Alliance, former pastor, as lector.

Holiday Traffic Mishaps Kill 430

Ohio Among 6 States
With Over 20 Deaths

By The Associated Press

Traffic 430
Fires 49
Miscellaneous 109
Total 588

Violent accidents claimed a staggering toll of lives over the extended Thanksgiving holiday weekend and as expected traffic deaths led the grim total.

The final figures from across the nation were not complete. But with the count ended at midnight (local time) Sunday, covering a period of 102 hours from 6 p.m. Wednesday, the latest figures showed: 430 killed in traffic accidents; 49 perished in fires and 109 lives in miscellaneous type accidents. The over-all total was 588, an average of nearly six per hour.

Highway deaths took a sharp rise in the final hours of the four-day holiday as highways were jammed with Sunday drivers and other thousands returning home from holiday trips. Generally fair weather prevailed in most of the country but rain, snow and fog added to the driving hazards in some sections.

Belated reports may boost the traffic death toll above the 443 killed on the highways during last year's four-day Thanksgiving holiday weekend. However, this year's toll in fires and other kinds of accidents apparently will run below last year's 70 fire deaths and 135 in miscellaneous mishaps.

This year's traffic death toll was close to the 433 total reported in an Associated Press survey cover-

Left-Wing Foes Of Government Spark Violence

CARACAS, Venezuela (AP)—Rioting broke out anew in several places throughout this capital city today. Three persons have been killed and 100 wounded in three previous days of rioting.

Cabinet Forced Into Emergency Session To Deal With Unrest

Demonstrators clashed with police this morning along the Avenida Sucre which runs through Catia, a crowded workers' housing district in the western part of the city. This was the area where U.S. Vice President Richard M. Nixon was attacked during his visit to Caracas in 1958.

Carry Gasoline Bombs

Police reported groups carrying bottled gasoline bombs were assembling at Plaza Carabobo on the eastern edge of the downtown business district.

The Cabinet of President Romulo Betancourt was forced into emergency session to deal with the political and economic unrest which sparked the rioting, carried on mainly by the militant left. National Guardsmen patrolled the city.

The outburst was attributed to Betancourt's left-wing opponents, some of them recently detected from his moderate Socialist coalition to attack him in anti-American tones similar to the line of Cuban Prime Minister Fidel Castro.

Despite Betancourt's two-years in power trying to spread the wealth of his oil-rich country more evenly, there was widespread pessimism about the outlook in this new crisis.

High schools and normal schools were closed today for the second time in a month.

Betancourt asked Ramon J. Velasquez, secretary-general of the presidency and one of his closest advisers, to take over the education ministry in the absence of its chief, Rafael Pizani, who is in the United States for medical treatment.

The moderate government forces of Betancourt's Democratic Action party and the Christian Socialists now are opposed by the left-wing Democratic Republican Union (URD), which quit the government coalition 10 days ago, as well as Communists and the Movement of the Revolutionary Left, a Marxist offshoot of Betancourt's party.

Betancourt called on troops to quell last month's riots, and this was one reason the URD quit the coalition. Its leaders called the move "repression."

Elsewhere in the Caribbean, unrest was spotted in Haiti and Colombia.

In Haiti, now in its sixth day of martial law after a student strike against President Francois Duvalier's government, the president shook up the army general staff and the administrative council of the National Bank.

Last week Duvalier expelled the Roman Catholic archbishop of Haiti and accused him of supporting a student strike the government.

The word from the Kennedy doctors Sunday was that the baby was coming along fine, was perfectly healthy and had its first regular feeding—three-quarters of an ounce of powdered milk formula. It had been getting small quantities of lactose, a sugar and water solution.

Dr. Edward B. Brooks, a pediatrician, said there was no basis for reports the infant had developed a respiratory or breathing ailment.

One new statistic was provided—John Jr. is 20 inches long. It was announced earlier he has brown hair. In the interest of as little handling as possible there has been no check in weight, the doctors said, since birth when he weighed in at 6 pounds 3 ounces.

As for mother Kennedy's condition, Dr. John W. Walsh, who performed the Caesarean section, said she was feeling bright and chipper and that "everything is really going beautifully."

Would Cost Billions of Dollars

U.S. Goals In 1960s Proposed By Eisenhower Commission

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Eisenhower's commission on national goals has outlined a program for America in the 1960s that would cost billions of dollars more of government spending.

"This could mean a tax increase, the commission of 11 distinguished Americans concluded in a 30-page report made public by the White House Sunday. A copy was sent to President-elect John F. Kennedy.

Specifically, the commission urged the nation to arm adequately no matter what the cost and to spend billions of dollars more on education, foreign aid, research and cities.

The national goals proposed by the commission also included the elimination of racial segregation, the reduction of unemployment, and a foreign policy that preserves the United Nations while remaining ready to negotiate with the Soviet Union on any reasonable basis.

The commission and its report stem from President Eisenhower's State of the Union message almost two years ago. In it, the President said the nation should define its national purpose and goals.

The report now serves as a legacy from the Eisenhower administration to the incoming Kennedy administration. In several respects, the recommendations resemble the "New Frontiers" program outlined by Kennedy in his campaign.

Eisenhower created the commission last January, naming Dr. Henry M. Wriston as chairman. Dr. Wriston is president-emeritus of Brown University and president of the American Assembly, an educational institution.

Frank Pace Jr., chairman of General Dynamics Corp., and a former secretary of the army, is vice chairman.

Members of the commission did not agree on all goals. Among them, AFL-CIO President George Meany dissented from several recommendations.

Cuba Seethes With Discontent

People's Hunger Expected To Cause Castro's Downfall

By HAROLD K. MILKS
SANTIAGO, Cuba (AP) — Fidel Castro's Cuba is filled with disillusionment and dread. Yet the prospect of an armed overthrow of his Communist-oriented regime today appears more distant than ever.

This is indicated in a quick tour of four of this island's five provinces.

Many Cubans, both big and little, predict a relatively early end to Castro's revolutionary government. But most agree the end will come through economic collapse, rather than by an invasion or an uprising from within.

Cubans talk openly and privately against his rule, from Havana eastward to Santiago, Cuba's second largest city and capital of Oriente province, where the Castro revolution was born.

Most complaints are based on two factors — economic hardship and communism.

In Santiago, a longshoreman whose union had just been told by the government that workers no longer will receive overtime pay, told this correspondent:

"We have been asked to pull in our belts, to work more and eat less. We can do that, but I won't work for the communists and my companions won't either."

A businessman who has lived in Santiago all his life and now watches militiamen giving orders in the establishment he built, declared: "You could expect people of my class to oppose Castro and his regime even though I and many like me helped it grow. But here in Santiago it is the little people who are feeling the pressure as much or more than we are."

"I give Castro six months more. Then not even his Communist-armed militia and his army of informants can control a hungry people."

A sugar man, who looked back over his shoulder before he spoke, predicted that not even an excellent growing season would save Castro from trouble when the sugar harvest begins in December.

"There is the problem of when to sell sugar once it is harvested and milled," he said. "But an even bigger problem is getting the harvest in. And I don't think Castro's appointees can do it."

Only a few hundred desperate men are carrying on the counter-revolutionary struggle in the Sierra Maestra, the mountains where Castro launched his revolution. Yet when Castro visited Santiago recently to address the newly armed people's militia, he never left the heavily guarded airport. Castro's foes in Santiago feared he was afraid to enter this city that once lent his movement powerful support.

Businessmen, farmers and workers alike appear resigned to waiting until such time as an avalanche of hungry people is ready to come crashing down on the Castro regime.

"It will be slow, but it will come," said a Santiago worker. "We can wait until more people are hungry."

And a gray-haired farmer whispered: "Fidel is a commandante (major) but hunger is a colonel and outranks him."

MISSING YOUTH FOUND

MOUNT VERNON, Ohio (AP) — Gordon Huggert, 17, of nearby Danville, has turned up safe in a cabin in eastern Knox County after being missing a week. Skin divers had searched the Mohican River for his body after his turning motor scooter was found near the river bank, off a highway in the extreme northeast end of the county.

Authorities quoted the boy as saying he staged his disappearance because of personal problems. He told officers he tried to make it appear he had drowned. An uncle found him in the cabin which Gordon had stocked with provisions.

YWCA Sponsors Film At State Theater

The YWCA is sponsoring a family picture show, Gene Stratton Porter's "Freckles," at the State Theater Thursday, Friday and Saturday.

Filmed in cinemascopes and technicolor, "Freckles" is described as a wholesome motion picture for the entire family. An extra short feature, "The Golden Fish," won the International Critics' prize.

Proceeds will go toward the retirement of the YWCA building debt. Only tickets sold through the "Y" will benefit the organization. Members are asked to return tickets to the chairman listed on the letters mailed with their tickets.

Tickets are available from "Y" members or at the "Y", Bonser's Drug store or Bloomberg's.

HE'S IN THE DARK

IRONTON, Ohio (AP) — "I'm going to write Radio Moscow and ask them what they are talking about," says David F. Thomas of nearby Proctorville. The Russian radio station last Friday said it was broadcasting information on Soviet progress, in making a radio map of the sun because Thomas had asked for it.

Thomas, a 51-year-old amateur radio monitor, said he did not make the request. But he supposed it had something to do with his hearing the radio signal of the first Russian sputnik and his correspondence with Soviet astronomers dating back to 1931. Radio Moscow notified him of the broadcast in advance, but he says he missed it and now "I'm in the dark."

Ann Landers

ANSWERS YOUR PROBLEMS

Dear Ann Landers: When my wife gets ready for bed she greases herself up like she's preparing to swim the English Channel. Then she rolls her hair up in aluminum gadgets and fastens them with hairpins. One night she'll put my eye out.

When I complained to her she said, "I have a choice — my hair can look good either at night or the next day." She claims if she doesn't pin her hair up at night it is unmanageable.

About the grease — she says her skin is dry.

You're a woman, Ann, tell me, is all this jazz necessary?—SAM.

Dear Sam: No. There are non-sticky, nongooey creams on the market and your wife should inquire about them. Also, no woman has to go to bed looking like Univa. If her hair is difficult to manage, she should get a permanent.

If she MUST wear pins and a hairnet, there are attractive pins available, decorated with daisies and rosebuds, and cute hairnets made of metallic thread and trimmed with satin bows.

Give her $5 today and tell her to go shopping.

It's Now That Counts

Dear Ann: Our daughter is now 19 years old. She was born a little too soon after our marriage, but my husband and I moved immediately to another city and no one thought anything about it.

Our daughter became interested in a job that required her to present her birth certificate. She wrote to the city hall of the town where she was born and they sent her a photostated copy of the original document.

She has let us know she was disappointed to learn she's been celebrating her birthday in December although she really was born in September.

Now that she suspects something, what shall we say?—TROUBLED PARENTS.

Dear Troubled: Be realistic. If she has seen a copy of the original certificate, she's more than suspicious — she's dead sure.

Since you're trapped, admit the truth and then drop it. If you've been good parents all these years, what happened before she was born can't really make any difference.

Acknowledgements

Dear Ann: Recently a well known professional man passed away. He had many friends and I'm sure there were hundreds of thank-you notes to write after the funeral. Instead of sending cards, the family sent out mimeographed letters which started, "Dear Friend." Even the signature was mimeographed.

I was shocked by the impersonal treatment. A few people I work with argued it was all right since he was prominent and the list of those who remembered him was probably a long one. What is your opinion?—WONDERING.

Dear Wondering: I'm with you. If the man was prominent and had lots of friends the family should have enlisted the help of his friends (if relatives weren't available) to acknowledge the remembrances properly.

The very least that is acceptable is a printed or engraved card saying "The family of ZM wishes to thank you . . . etc." and the card should be signed by hand — not by a machine.

Wet Noodle Again

Dear Readers: The wet noodle comes out of retirement. Or perhaps I should take 10 lashes with a telephone cord!

I recommended a jack-type phone so nocturnal orators and pests could be plugged out. An impressive list of telephone company employees and executives informed me that regulations differ according to the state and the telephone company. In most states the regulations require one permanent phone in the house.

The best solution is to request an instrument with an adjustable bell—then turn it way down. It costs money but it's worth it. — ANN LANDERS.

Dear Ann Landers: This may sound nutty, but I DO need your help. I am 13 years old and have been carrying on correspondence with a Japanese pen pal whose name is Masako Obara. The trouble is, I don't know whether Masako is a boy or a girl.

My mother says it would be very impolite to ask, "Are you a boy or a girl?" I have written Masako three letters and have received three letters in return. What shall I do now?—C.E.

Dear C. E.: If after three letters from Masako you are unable to tell if you're corresponding with a boy or girl—skip it because it doesn't make any difference.

Equality A Myth?

Dear Ann: Any gal who thinks women have equal rights in this country is just kidding herself. If a man's trousers are too tight he's just put on weight. If a woman's skirt is too tight she's trying to be sexy.

If a man stands on a corner, he's getting fresh air. If a woman does it she's looking to be picked up. If a man has one drink too many "it slipped up on him"—and if a woman gets a little bit tight she's a lush.

If hubby has a night out with the boys, he's entitled to it. If his wife has a night out with the girls, she's up to no good and ought to be at home with her family.

A male who has a minor automobile accident can tell you exactly what went wrong mechanically with the car. A female who bangs a fender or loses a headlight is a lousy driver.

If a man philanders and is caught at it, he's misunderstood at home and is probably married to a cold fish. A woman who has an affair is a tramp, an unfit mother and should be tossed out on her posterior.

If the kids turn out good they are a chip off the old block. If they turn out bad, their mother did a rotten job because, after all, the mother spends most of her time with the kids and it's her influence that is felt.—BIG LAUGH.

Tireless Talker

Dear Ann: I'm proud of my husband but whenever he has to say a few words in public I want to fade into the wallpaper. He's a poor speaker and everyone knows it but him.

He's very active in civic and cultural affairs so he is often called on to "say a few words." He drones on about trifles and everyone keeps hoping he'll drop from exhaustion but he never does.

I've pleaded with him to make notes and stick to them but he claims he's a born ad libber and notes hamper him. Please, Ann, help me. He's been asked to make a five-minute speech for his lodge's annual dinner and I know it will be 25 minutes of agony for everyone.—ESPECIALLY ME.

Dear Especially: You have my deepest sympathy. I'm well acquainted with the type. They seem to have three mouths and no ears. The amateur ad lib artist often confuses lack of preparation with "spontaneous wit." Before he reaches the audience, the audience has reached the exits.

For some unfathomable reason a husband will listen LAST to the one who loves him most—his wife. So, if you can get the head of the program committee to give him a strong hint (in writing) before his next speech, it may help.

Suggested line: "PLEASE, five minutes of a PREPARED speech. The program is long and we would appreciate your cooperation."

Confidentially

TO UNEDUCATED M.: Any woman who can write a letter like yours is educated enough to make a living for herself. Get out of that squirrel cage—the sooner the better.

Ann Landers will be glad to help you with your problems. Send them to her in care of The Salem News, enclosing a stamped, self-addressed envelope.

Talk Alone Does Not Win An Election

One of several explanations Gov. DiSalle has offered for Democratic statewide defeats in the Nov. 8 election is his contention that Republicans were better financed.

This is a familiar Democratic refrain which can be debated if anyone wants to get down to specifics. So Courtney Burton, chairman of Ohio Republican Finance Committee, might have been expected to take exception to the governor's remarks when he spoke to county GOP officials the other day.

But Mr. Burton pulled a switch. He indicated that he considered Gov. DiSalle's statements a tribute to the fine job Republicans did this year in backing up their party loyalty with money.

Mr. Burton said he believes both parties should be solvent, to preserve the kind of democracy practiced in this country. Contributions to political parties dedicated to the promotion of the democratic process are as worthy as contributions to charitable institutions, Mr. Burton concluded.

THIS ATTITUDE is remarkable for its rarity, but Mr. Burton's point was that it should not be unusual. Political organizations too often treat their financial affairs as a necessary evil, about which it is best to say as little as possible.

But it is no disgrace to back up convictions with something tangible. Few other organized institutions in our society are expected to act as if they don't need money to get along.

Some Men Without a Country

This thought has nothing to do directly with anyone named Kasavubu, Mobutu, Lumumba, or Kokoilo.

It has no direct bearing on the present condition or prospects of countries named Chad, Dahomey, Gabon, Malagasy, Senegal, Mali, Togo, or Upper Volta.

It is concerned only with a problem that has arisen under the United Nations, which never will get completely off the ground and into permanent orbit in international affairs until it has a permanent, professional peace force that can go anywhere it's needed on one day's notice and create respect for the international law that eventually will grow out of the precedents set up by United Nations decisions.

What has been happening lately in places like the Congo and to individuals named Kasavubu and Lumumba and Mobutu is not going to be too consequential in the long run. But what the United Nations does in its manifestations of authority in Africa is going

A man with deep religious beliefs is expected to contribute to the point of sacrifice to help his church.

A man who has deep convictions about the political system under which he lives certainly should not be embarrassed to contribute a small part of his material assets to the party he thinks best expresses those convictions.

The efforts of recent years to organize bipartisan campaigns to provide dollars for the two political parties are well-intentioned, but they are impractical. That is why they are seldom heard of after the initial kickoff.

Few people can be prevailed upon to part with their cash in a vague sense of duty to either or both political parties. They have to be asked to kick in to something in which they have put their hearts.

THE SUCCESS of the two-party system depends upon the sincerity with which the parties' members give allegiance to the party of their choice.

The success of each party in applying its political principles at the level of practice depends in part on its members' interest in keeping the party in healthy financial condition.

When all of the sources of Democratic party funds are considered, it is doubtful that Gov. DiSalle is right in saying the Republicans are better fixed financially.

But even if it were true, it would be, as Mr. Burton said, a tribute, not an insult.

to be gravely consequential, because everything it does in this early stage of its evolution is a precedent.

This, then, is the thought:
That the luckiest thing which could happen to the United Nations would be the discovery of a planetful of professional international policemen somewhere in space who would jump at a chance to come here to Earth and maintain law and order among the natives for good pay and no fringe benefits.

These people preferably would be easily distinguished color, like green, with characteristics to distinguish them on sight from earthlings, even in low visibility conditions. For instance, a bright green policeman about 12 feet tall with four arms and eyes spaced evenly around the circumference of his head would be ideal.

Now that all nations love peace so much they are in danger of going to war over it, a regiment of 12-foot-high policemen colored dark green might make all the difference.

Japanese Moderates Hold the Edge

In Japan, the politicians have muddled the water so successfully a voter needs a course in political science to know what he is voting for. But in the main, the majority strength in last Sunday's election belonged to moderates.

There were slight losses by the immoderates of the right and slight gains by the immoderates of the left.

If a new system of political labeling were installed, names like "moderates" and "immoderates" would become commonplace. They would clear up the confusion in Japan, where conservatives now are Liberal-Democratic semi-conservatives are Democratic Socialists and leftwingers are Socialists.

Names like these mean nothing. Nor do names like Conservative, Labor and Liberal in Britain. In France, the meaningless names of political parties symbolized the sickness of a country plagued by muddled politics.

In the United States, where the two major party systems are interlaced with disputing groups inside the organizations, it would be helpful if everybody understood that the core of both parties is moderation and that this is under attack in both parties by immoderates—some radical, some reactionary.

Immoderation is the blight of politics—not the immoderation of one group of immoderates but the immoderation of all immoderates.

Their victims always are the people in the middle—the moderates. The moderates pay the taxes and pick up the pieces when things go wrong. They live under ceaseless attack from both sides. They are hated equally by radicals and reactionaries. But they are the stabilizing element that makes good government possible.

In Japan, which is experimenting with democracy, there is a strong, central core of moderation to build on. The immoderates must hate it, but if it weren't there they would be at each other's throats.

15-100ths Of a Difference

The studied calm being maintained about the possibility that Richard Nixon might be counted into the presidency with or without the help of some unpledged electors from Mississippi barely conceals the tremulous excitement behind the political scenes.

California finally has been counted in for Nixon.

The potential surprise is no longer the vote in precincts that haven't reported; there are only about 1,500 of these left.

THE PLACE TO WATCH now is the big cities where the Democratic organization piles up massive vote totals to swamp the more normal division of voters in small cities and rural precincts. These are the cesspools

Take a Look Around

The suit of a Stark County concern against the city of Salem for damages incurred when a truck scraped an over-hanging tree points up the dangers of protruding objects whether they be over streets or sidewalks.

Fortunately, the city won the suit. Some similar case in the future might result in a verdict favoring the plaintiff.

Property owners might follow the example set by Mayor Dean Cranmer who has ordered service department personnel to check for all such hazards on streets. The principal objective is to remove anything dangerous to passersby. It might be wise to inspect your own curb lawn and remedy a condition that could cause someone to fall or injure themselves against a fixed object. In this connection, a few sidewalks in the downtown section of town are known to be in need of repair.

of election fraud. These are the places where the premium is highest on dirty work at the ballot boxes, phony registrations, multiple voting and doctored totals.

It is not that Democrats are more unscrupulous than Republicans in this regard. It is only that Republicans no longer are kingpins in the great population centers like Chicago.

Actually, no one seems to welcome the possibility of a reversal of what Richard Nixon may have prematurely conceded to be victory for John Kennedy. Certainly nothing said by Nixon since the night of Election Day has sounded wishful. It is as though, having seen what a close thing the election turned out to be, the vice president was well satisfied to let his opponent deal with the consequences.

Beneath the surface, though, Mr. Nixon is still anxious to win. But he is giving no comfort to those who cannot bring themselves to believe that he lost until there has been time for a searching examination of returns. The search now is for fraud. A new realization is spreading through the ranks of Democratic and Republican voters. Vice President Nixon did not lose. John Kennedy did not win. They ran a dead heat, and because only one man can be president of the United States the Electoral College formula gives the decision to Kennedy.

THUS, THIS ANTIQUATED, never satisfactory device for choosing presidents may have performed a miracle in 1960. It has apparently given the nation a president under circumstances that otherwise would have had to be called a dead heat—an unbreakable tie.

When the difference between presidential candidates in upward of 68 million votes is less than 200,000—15-100th of one per cent—there has been no victory and no loss.

"It's the Lifeguard!"

Inside Labor By Victor Riesel

There's a mysterious "black box" in the blockhouse at Pad 34 in Cape Canaveral which could keep us ahead of the Soviets. If it works, the U.S. space scientists may have a two-man rocket in to a round trip to the moon.

We may even be able to make a "soft" lunar landing. That is, if the earth crew in the blockhouse isn't forced to use the "Destruct" button to blow up the Saturn rocket.

Or, if there are no strikes by the construction workers — as there has been in the past two weeks. The trouble began at Pad 34 on Monday, Nov. 14.

It began at the "black box" — the control console. The National Aeronautics and Space Administration was worried about hooking it up. There are "some several thousand electronic connections" in the comparatively small control mechanism, I was told by the NASA specialists who headquarter at Huntsville, Alabama's Gen. George C. Marshall Space Flight Center.

THE SCIENTISTS explained that there really are no full blueprints for the black boxes. Government technicians are trained actually to experiment as they wire the controls.

The first set of electronic relays are put in, tested and then the second network is attached and so on until the "several thousand" are meshed. There is no pattern for assembling the box as there is for a TV set.

Furthermore, what most folks overlook is the bulk of ground support needed for a rocket. Over 70 per cent of the blast-off operation remains on the ground in the blockhouse. The rest goes into the actual flight in this man-in-space operation.

Three weeks ago the space probes explained this to some Washington construction union chiefs.

The Saturn-Centaur air men said they wanted to put their own civil service technicians onto Pad 34 and its blockhouse. The word was that there would be trouble with the local workers at Canaveral.

So the NASA scientists sent star-scraper Wernher von Braun to the Cape. There he delivered a "patriotic speech" to the union workers. They listened. They promised nothing.

THE UNION MEN began walking out when the NASA specialists moved in. At first there were only four civil service scientists. By Thursday, Nov. 17, there were 32.

Then out walked the regular construction crew — of 43 electricians, 17 plumbers, 9 laborers and one oiler. That ended work at Pad 34. That day the Building and Construction Trades Council of Cape Canaveral met and resolved . . . Strike. Soon 1,000 men downed tools.

All work except the Minute Man Project was stalled. A special deal was made on this "third generation" solid fuel intercontinental missile. The men worked at it because of the "imminence of firing."

The union men said they could do the work. They have been pulling the cables and installing the regular wiring and the "black box" would be no mystery to them, they asserted.

The NASA disagreed. The deadlock brought paralysis to the Cape, despite round-the-clock mediation by Joe Finnegan's conscientious Conciliation Service.

WEEKS OF WORK have been lost, all for the sake of 70 jobs. These 70 could be doing other tasks. They would not go payless. But if principle is involved in bucking the civil service scientists, what about the principle involved in keeping the U.S. ahead of the U.S.S.R.

Wouldn't it be nice if somebody did something for the sake of the country?

U.S. Missile Program

By HOWARD BENEDICT

Bomber to Pass From Scene In 1960s

CAPE CANAVERAL, Fla. (AP) —Within a few weeks a sleek Minuteman missile will stab skyward from this test center, signalling the start of a development program designed to give the United States a revolutionary weapons system bordering on the science-fiction concept of push-button war.

Once Minuteman is perfected, the Air Force plans the fastest missile buildup in U.S. history. The buildup, scheduled to start in mid-1962, will mark the beginning of an era when rockets rather than manned bombers will be the dominant force in the Strategic Air Command.

Present plans call for at least 600 Minutemen to be deployed by late 1964. About 450 of these will be spread across the Western United States in hardened underground silos built to withstand a near-miss by a nuclear bomb. The other 150 will roam the countryside on special railroad cars, making them elusive targets.

Defense planners are talking of eventually having 2,000 Minutemen.

Construction has been completed at Cape Canaveral on extensive facilities for the flight test program. The launch area includes two beehive-shaped blockhouses; two regular launch pads; two 90-foot deep silos, and assembly, storage, inspection and industrial buildings.

The initial launchings, slated to start in December, will be from land pads. Silo firings will begin in about six months, with railroad car shots scheduled here later in the program.

What is the advantage of Minuteman over the Atlas and Titan ICBMs?

"The answer is simple—solid fuel," an official replied. "Solid fuel permits storing of Minuteman for months in silos. It permits firing the missile from underground. And it gives the missile mobility, enabling it to be carried by railway."

"Atlas and Titan are tied to one launching pad because of their difficult-to-handle liquid fuel, which requires extensive ground support equipment and more complex parts in the missile. Until storable liquid fuels are developed, Atlas and Titan will require a countdown and will have to be fired above ground. Thus, they are more vulnerable targets than Minuteman."

Low cost and relative ability to survive atomic attack are two major arguments for Minuteman.

The Air Force estimates $20 million as the cost of construction and ground support equipment for one 50-missile Minuteman silo squadron. This compares with $75 million for construction and support equipment for a 10-missile Titan base, and $100 million for a Polaris submarine which will carry 16 missiles. Minuteman trains will cost more than silo sites, but considerably less than a Polaris submarine.

When Minuteman reaches its present planned force of 600 missiles, in 1964, there will be about 250 Atlas and Titan missiles on station. This will give the Strategic Air Command more intercontinental range rockets than bombers.

"Then," the official remarked, "the bomber will begin passing from the scene. The missile will be our major weapon."

Which Comes First?

By SAM DAWSON

NEW YORK (AP)—The cost of living has reached a record high again—to the surprise of no one. But so has personal income.

This points up the question: Which comes first, the price tag or the consumer's ability to pay?

Or, to put it in a way lately fashionable in some circles: Are the manufacturers, the merchants and the advertising fraternity leading the consumer around by the nose? Or is the consumer, as he's so often told, really king?

That the dollar has shrunk in terms of goods and services it will buy isn't news to anyone who pays the family bills.

As told in figures, the Consumer Price Index of the Bureau of Labor Statistics now is 73.6 per cent higher than in 1929. (The cost of living index dipped during the 1930s but was back to the 1929 level by 1943.) But today the average weekly factory pay is more than three times what it was in 1929.

Or as told in terms of the sweat of the brow, the hours of work it takes to be able to buy most products have been shrinking faster than the dollar.

A few voices are raised here and there to say that the manufacturer, the merchant and the ad man aren't unmitigated villains in the rising cost of living. And, especially now that the postwar shortages are but a memory, the consumer is in position to lead the seller around by the nose, and frequently does.

"You and I have a greater opportunity than at any time in history to know a great deal about the products we can buy. In general, consumers do an excellent job of choosing." These are quotes from "The Spenders" (McGraw-Hill) by Stuart Henderson Britt, professor of marketing and Advertising at Northwestern University.

And another thing that's bothering a lot of folk of late: Fads and fashions. Are they the devilish scheme of businessmen to bilk the consumer, to strip him of his dough, to turn this into a generation of waste makers? Or do fads and fashions more often trip up the manufacturer and merchant and throw him for a loss?

The answer probably is: Both. Creators of fashion changes and new models every year would like you to buy their latest concoction. But it's one thing to promote changes and another to be sure which ones will catch on.

You can lose a lot of money by guessing wrong which way the consumer will jump. (Detroit had a little trouble with that before turning to the compact car.) And it is estimated that as high as 90 per cent of all new products fail to make money.

The fad of bare legs for females was hardly the idea of the stocking makers. But when fads are planned—as when Paris decrees the length of skirts—their effects aren't confined to just what is planned. As Britt notes: "The number of inches of leg exposed—either bare or nylon clad—affects not only men but also the styles of shoes, skirts, dresses, hats, jewelry, suit, coat."

Another thing about today's higher prices: A lot are hidden. That is, without being told as much, you pay for many services.

Examples: In filling stations the cost of gas covers a lot of supposedly free services; the price of bread covers the slicing and wrapping machines and the delivery trucks; and the price of a suit covers the cost to the store when you say "charge it." But most consumers demand service and are willing to pay for it, especially if the cost is hidden.

Product research and market research and advertising cost, the producer money—but more often than not they keep him in business. His aim is to make a profit, but that depends on the consumer because Britt says, "To make a profitable product he must produce what you and I want and need."

Advertising is aimed at selling the product but in the process it tells us a lot about the product and its variety of uses. That's why Americans are, or should be, the best informed of consumers.

So what do we do? We decide how to spend our money—whether to buy power steering or to go in for heat-and-serve dinners. A lot of manufacturers of late have had to learn that—and to lump it.

FICTION

THE DEAN'S WATCH by Elizabeth Goudge. Miss Goudge goes back to the period and the place of her best-loved novel for this story. It is Wells, England, in the mid-nineteenth century and the dean of the Cathedral as well as the clockmaker of the town. The plot of the story revolves around the influence of the clockmaker on the Dean. The novel is beautifully written.

THE WAINWRIGHT INHERITANCE by Elizabeth Corbett. When a widow who had been over-protected all her life received a legacy from her aunt, she began to live for herself at long last.

SON AND HER by Edith P. Begner. What happens when a young doctor takes over the practice of a famous physician when he is seriously injured — and the young man finds out that all is not what it seems. The author is the wife of a doctor.

COME WITH ME HOME by Gladys Hasty Carroll. A new England retired school teacher lives alone in an old mansion. But a newspaper reporter discovers that she has several unusual talents and soon the world is beating a path to her door.

MORNING AT JALNA by Mazo de la Roche. The latest in the Whiteoak series goes back to the time of the Civil War when Adelina and Philip were quite young and their children were growing up.

WEDDING TRAIN by Margaret Scherf. Two Easterners, a man and a woman, meet on a train going to Montana at the turn of the century. We meet about everyone in the small town they both settle in. The story is of the frontier town's whole life.

THE LISTENER by Taylor Caldwell. A wealthy man gave to his community a room in a chapel where there was someone behind a curtain who would always listen to their troubles and give them good advice. The author brings out the need for religious counseling and the dangers of atheism.

THE DOCTOR'S BRIDE by Shirley Seifert. Another "Doctor" story by this always popular author will be welcomed by her avid readers.

THE MUSGRAVES by D. E. Stevenson. Another popular author of light fiction, Miss Stevenson uses the Cotswold district of England as her setting in this story of a widow and her children.

SEA ROAD TO YORKTOWN by Harvey Haislip. An adventure story placed during the Revolutionary war, this follows Mr. Haislip's "Sailor Named Jones" and "The Prize Master."

APPROXIMATELY 100 persons attended the Job's Daughters Thanksgiving dance held Friday evening at the Masonic Temple.

The dance floor was centered with a harvest scene, with individual tables decorated with fall leaves and candles. Music was provided by the Rumbletones.

A program of tap dancing and acrobatic numbers were presented by Judy Spooner, Gyll Floding and Mary Beth Beall during the intermission.

Phoebe Cope, Elaine Enders and Beverly Costa were in charge of decorations.

The chaperones were Mr. and Mrs. Paul White, Mrs. Eric Nyberg, Mrs. E. C. Detimore and Mrs. Nicholas Costa.

Election of officers will be held at the Dec. 7 meeting.

A FAREWELL party was held recently in honor of Charles "Bud" Tepsic, who is leaving Wednesday for the Air Force.

Fifteen guests attended the party at his home at 195 Hawley Ave. His mother, Mrs. Brownie Tepsic, and Miss Karen Wank of Winona planned the affair.

Dancing was enjoyed during the evening, after which refreshments were served.

SOCIABLE NINE Club met recently at the home of Mrs. David Matz of Homeworth.

Cards were played, with prizes going to Miss Corinne Hoffman, Mrs. Richard Neel and Mrs. Kenneth Crowell. Refreshments were served by the hostess, with Thanksgiving appointments.

The next meeting will be Dec. 21 at Miss Hoffman's home in Homeworth.

GOSHEN TOWNSHIP Extension Group will meet Friday for a Christmas meeting at Goshen Grange Hall from 10:30 a.m. to 3:30 p.m.

Each one attending is asked to bring a sack lunch and some Christmas crafts and ideas.

There will be a 25-cent gift exchange. Anyone interested is invited.

TWENTY-ONE members and a guest, Mrs. Mary Hendren, attended the Florence Nightingale Registered Nurses Association meeting recently at the Hannah E. Mullins nurses home.

Plans were made for a Christmas party Dec. 19 at 6 p.m. at the home. Each member is to contribute toward a basket of food for a needy family. Mrs. Cecil Conser, Mrs. Robert Lozier Jr., Mrs. Cy Porter, Miss Alma Burke, Miss Josephine Divita and Mrs. Emma Keck comprise the committee for the party, with Mrs. Louis Weirick and Mrs. Janet Johnson in charge of decorations.

Guest speaker was Dr. D. M. Josef, resident physician at City Hospital. He spoke on "aortic aneurysm."

Lunch was served by Mrs. Joseph Strouse and Mrs. Andrew Gluckner.

Many With "So What?" Attitude

Most High School Students Cheat, Ohio Teachers Find

CINCINNATI (AP) — High school students cheat plenty in the classroom—most of them, teachers in two of Cincinnati's largest schools declare — with a "so what?" attitude.

In one of two schools with four-figure enrollments, 53 staff members were polled for their views while at the other, a sampling of reaction was taken. Almost without exception, the teachers interviewed said that today's students are as prone to cheat as those of any other generation; many a veteran said "more so," with an almost unanimous feeling that boys and girls both believe "cheating is OK unless you get caught."

Here's a rundown of teacher reactions:

"Cheating is widespread—if al-

Steel Market Won't Permit Price Hike

CLEVELAND (AP) — Major steel producers reluctantly agree the market will not support a price increase when the industry's wage rates go up Thursday, Steel Magazine said today.

The publication feels the wage increase will be passed along to consumers as soon as market conditions warrant — the only real questions being the effective date, the amount, and which company will make the first move.

"Chances are there will be no across-the-board increase initiated by the largest producer — U.S. Steel," the weekly journal said.

With the exception of steel products under strongest competition from imports—which may remain untouched — price increases will probably be restricted to around $3 to $4, Steel predicted.

The magazine reported third quarter earnings of iron and steel companies averaged only 3.4 per cent of sales. It added that fourth quarter results will be worse if nothing is done to offset the Dec. 1 employment cost increases.

Steel said production this week will rebound part way from the low point to which it dropped in last week's Thanksgiving holiday period. The operating rate fell 4.1 percentage points last week to 47.5 per cent of capacity, with a yield of about 1,352,000 net tons of ingots.

lowed—on tests; not on homework because the lazy ones who won't do (home) assignments won't bother to copy."

"There's more going on now than years ago."

"Morals and honesty don't seem to bother them—if they can get by with it."

"Ninety per cent of my classes admitted cheating sometime. All agreed it was wrong, yet non would say positively they would never cheat again."

One teacher put it this way: "Recently I found 35 or 40 papers exactly alike. When I mentioned it in class I was 'rewarded' with horse-laughs and was told they had to work copying the outline, so I should be satisfied."

Said another: "I think we need more administrative support for failures because of cheating."

A third viewed "extensive cheating" in today's classrooms as the result of "crowded conditions and also partly to lack of pride and responsibility on the part of students."

The answer to it all?

Wider spacing of desks. Use of two sets of questions in alternate rows. Promise of "F" (for failure) grades to those caught cheating, or even permitting it. Constant patrol of the room while a test is in progress.

The principal of a third high school, located in a suburban area long identified as one of the city's choice neighborhoods, has found that cheating, where it exists, sometimes brings other headaches.

"We know, for instance, that a certain boy or girl's past record simply doesn't bear out an amazingly high grade that will appear on a test. Or series of tests—or for that matter a sudden 'spurt' or betterment of his class room recitations. But we can't 'catch him in the act.' So his grades make him look real good—for the moment."

"His mother and dad begin to think of him as good material for Yale or Harvard—or any of the Ivy League. Nothing less. They come to me and ask our help in filing his application for admittance."

"It's our job, then, to try to convince them that their Johnny simply can't make the grade; that in some cases he'd be lucky to be considered for acceptance for 'Dear ol' Siwash.'" the new health and welfare program will provide for hospitalization insurance for workers. Mention was made of the possibility the coverage could be broadened to include an employee's family, with the worker paying the additional cost.

Meeting Opened Monday
The agreement was reached at the Sheraton - Cleveland Hotel, where the meeting opened last Monday. The conference continued through Wednesday, then adjourned for the Thanksgiving holiday. It reconvened on Friday.
A management spokesman said he was unable to estimate the total cost per employee hour for the new fringe benefits. The contract expires Dec. 1, 1962.
No details have been worked out on the new pension plan, he added, but the agreement provides that management will turn over its contributions to the international union to be used for the fund.
The settlement with the china-ware producers may help set a pattern for the IBOP's negotiations with the U.S. Pottery Association, which resumed this morning in Cleveland.
The negotiating groups are working against a deadline Wednesday midnight, when the present contract expires.
Two earlier meetings between the USPA and the IBOP ended in a stalemate. Late last week the two sides were called into session again by federal mediator Clair Willmeth.

poor relief rolls, DiSalle's special session message said:
"I feel it would be unconscionable to transfer this burden to the general taxpayer when by law we have established a fund to alleviate the problems of unemployment within the state."
Exceeded $395 Million
The governor referred to a fund created by employer assessments to pay jobless benefits. That fund exceeded $395 million at the end of 1959, but DiSalle estimated it would be less than $320 million at the end of this year. Cost of the proposed extension will be about $26 million, he figured.
DiSalle also expects Democrats to confirm more than 100 appointments to state posts, boards and commissions. Senate confirmation is required for appointments made since the last regular session of the legislature. Such action at the special session would prevent Republicans from blocking any of the appointments in the regular session next month. Failure to confirm would require the governor to make different appointments.
The special session has been limited by the governor's call to consider the unemployment benefit extension. The Ohio constitution provides that a special session can consider only subjects specified by the chief executive.

elect solved one problem—how to tell Caroline about the addition to the family. He informed her that her mother was away retting her a brother.
Sunday morning the president-elect and Caroline came out of their N Street home and walked three blocks to Mass at Holy Trinity church.
Her father had her picture prayer book in his hand and she carried a rag doll. But they hadn't gone half a block when Caroline handed the doll to the president-elect and he dangled it from his left hand the rest of the way to church.
Inside the church, second pew from the rear in the choir loft, Kennedy had his troubles.
Caroline, who had been greeted with "happy birthday" shouts all along the way, was in bubbling spirits and never sat still for an instant.
She sprawled on the kneeling bench. She stretched out on the seat. She ducked under the pew. She clambered over a pew divider and snuggled up to a teen-age girl.
At that point daddy retrieved her. Once more she scrambled under the pew, once more she was relieved and spent the rest of the service on her father's lap. But she kept right on wriggling and paid small attention to her father's efforts to shush her.

Police Probe Death Of Bound Woman

CADIZ, Ohio (AP) — Harrison County authorities today sought clues in the death of a 68-year-old woman whose bound body was found in her home six miles south-east of here.
The body of Mrs. Angelina DiPaolo, widow of a coal miner killed in a traffic accident 11 years ago, was found Saturday night. Her hands were tied to a bed and a handkerchief was stuffed in her mouth.
Coroner G. E. Henderson said the woman died from exposure. The house was cold because the fire in the furnace had gone out. Henderson said she had been dead about 48 hours when found, but he could not tell how long she had been bound to the bed before she died.
The coroner said Mrs. DiPaolo had not been criminally assaulted. The body was found after a youth noticed a broken window in a door at the woman's home. He called a neighbor who notified authorities.
Sheriff Harry Bailey said the house had been ransacked. About a year ago Mrs. DiPaolo beat off three men who tried to break into her home.

3 Children Injured In Falls At Home

Three area children are confined to Salem City Hospital following falls at their homes over the weekend. Reported to be in fairly good condition, they are:
Larry Pressacco, five-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. Wilbert Pressacco of RD 1, Salem, who fractured his right leg.
George Feezle Jr., seven-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. George Feezle Sr. of East Palestine, a fractured arm.

8 Escape Injury As Auto Hits Train

EAST PALESTINE — A family of eight escaped possible serious injuries Sunday afternoon when their car struck a slow-moving freight train at the State Line Road crossing north of here.
Robert E. Bishop, 32, of RD 2, East Palestine, told authorities he had stopped for the train and his car drifted into the diesel engine. Neither Bishop nor his wife and six children was injured.

Remains Found of Man Dead Over 3,500 Years

EAST LIVERPOOL — The complete skeleton of a young adult, believed buried 3,500 to 7,000 years, was found under strips of bark six miles east of here Sunday by an archeological group.
Since November 1959 the Pennsylvania Archeological Society's Beaver Valley chapter has been digging in the Ohio View area of Industry, Pa. The stratified ground of the area preserves skeletal remains well and in earlier excavations the bones of a male adult, a young male and a female and infant were found. All of the remains are sent to the Carnegie Museum at Pittsburgh for further study.

Fugitive Questioned In New York Blasts

NEW YORK (AP)—A fugitive from a mental institution—questioned by police in the city's recent outbreak of Sunday and holiday bombings—was sent to Bellevue Hospital for observation today.
Detectives said Walter Long, 29, admitted stealing explosives from construction jobs and that he was in the vicinity of all the blasts except one.
But Long denied he set off any of the explosions, police said.
In five bombings here, one person has been killed and 59 injured. Four of the blasts were on Sundays and a fifth on Columbus Day.
Long escaped from Manhattan State Hospital July 5 and for several months has worked as a construction laborer and powder-shack watchman. He was working on a street project in Port Richmond, Staten Island, at the time of his arrest.
More than 600 members of the police department worked on the bomber case. Long was picked up after police checked membership records of all trade unions handling explosives to locate men with past histories of mental illness.

LISBON—Miss Edith Myers, state nursing consultant from Cuyahoga Falls, will be the guest speaker at the meeting of the Columbiana County School and Public Health Nurses Assn. Wednesday at 1:30 p.m. at the Court-house.
She will show slides of her tour and tell of her visit to health departments in Europe.
The program chairmen are Jeanette Carpenter, Edan Jones and Jane Jolly of East Liverpool.

Three Truck Drivers Forfeit Bonds Here

Two truck drivers forfeited bonds for overland while a third forfeited a bond for being off a main highway route here over the weekend.
Alex Margosiah, 47, of Youngstown, who was found driving his truck-trailer on E. Second St. and Jennings Ave. when he should have stayed on W. State St., posted a $25 bond forfeit.
Richard H. Shaffer, 30, of Fairmont, W. Va., forfeited $23 bond and Bernard Webster, 38, of New Castle, Pa., $50 for overland after being weighed in at the city scales.

East Liverpool Man Facing Second Trial

LISBON — The second trial of Frank Bookman, 20, of East Liverpool, charged with cutting with intent to wound, began this morning before Common Pleas Judge Raymond S. Buzzard.
A jury Oct. 22 advised Judge Buzzard they could not agree on a verdict after deliberating four hours following the first trial. The charge was based on a fight Aug. 20 at Miner's Tavern in Kensington in which Noah Soliday of Canton was wounded.

ing the 102-hour period between 6 p.m. Wednesday, Nov. 9, and midnight Sunday, Nov. 13. The AP's count also showed 69 fire deaths and 144 in other accidents for an over-all total of 646.
No pre-holiday estimate of the traffic deaths was made by the National Safety Council, which said travel on the Thanksgiving weekend is not as heavy as on other major holidays during the year. However, the NSC did estimate that 460 persons could die on the highways during a four-day weekend at this time of year.
The record death toll for a four-day holiday period is 884, set in the Christmas period of 1956. Included were 707 deaths on the highways.
California led the nation in traffic fatalities over the weekend, with at least 50. Five other states, Michigan, New York, Ohio, Pennsylvania and Texas, each reported 20 or more traffic deaths.

'Unluckiest' Browns Tied 17-17 by St. Louis Cardinals

Cleveland's Title Chances Evaporate

Milt Plum Maintains Record Of Having No Passes Intercepted

CLEVELAND (AP) — The 1960 Cleveland Browns, dubbed by Coach Paul Brown as his "unluckiest team," have yet to win a second-round match with their National Football League rivals this season.

A 17-17 tie at St. Louis Sunday with the Cardinals, whom the Browns whipped 28-27 two weeks earlier, left Cleveland in a second-place tie with the New York Giants. The Browns have only a faint mathematical chance to overtake the Eastern Division leaders, the Philadelphia Eagles. The Eagles' only loss in nine

The Browns also lost their rematch with the Pittsburgh Steelers, and next Sunday the return game with the Washington Redskins comes up here. Cleveland beat the last-placers, 31-10, a month ago.

Only 3rd Tie In 11 Years

In posting only the third tie of their 11 years play in the NFL, the Browns were outgained on the ground and in the air by the Cards, who made 10 of their points in the second half while they blanked the visitors.

Cleveland was unable to get a single first down in the third quarter.

Milt Plum passes—to Gern Nagler for 20 yards and to Leon Clarke for two — brought both Cleveland touchdowns in the second period. In the same quarter Sam Baker kicked a 42-yard field goal for the Browns' final points.

Plum completed 13 of 19 passes for 108 yards, but lost 20 passing to reduce his net to 88 against a 119-yard net for John Roach, who threw all but one of 20 St. Louis passes and completed nine.

The Cleveland quarterback kept intact his amazing record of no interceptions, but the record almost was broken in the final period. Larry Wilson grabbed the pigskin from Gern Nagler after a short Plum pass, but officials ruled the play a completion and a steal by Wilson.

Browns Intercept 5 Passes

Five St. Louis passes were intercepted by the Browns — two each by Jim Shofner and Bobby Franklin and one by Don Fleming. Fleming's catch set up the Browns' big chance to break the tie with 3:37 left in the final quarter. He ran the ball 16 yards to the Cards' 33, but the opportunity evaporated when Baker missed a 23-yard field goal try. The angle was difficult, but Coach Brown said afterward it was the sort of kick Baker would cash in "99 out of 100 times."

Mal Hammack, with 80 yards in 17 tries, and John Crow, with 71 yards in 12 carries, led the Cards' ground offense. Crow scored the first St. Louis touchdown by hurling two yards into the end zone after a 74-yard second-quarter march.

Gerry Perry's 23-yard field goal, his 12th of the season for a Cardinal club record, cut the Browns' lead to 17-10 in the third period. The kick was an aftermath to a fumble by fullback Jimmy Brown, who gained 132 yards in 24 thrusts for the Browns.

St. Louis moved 88 yards in 11 plays to the tying touchdown. Roach hit on four of seven passes in the drive, with Sonny Randle eluding Shofner in the end zone on the 12-yard scoring play.

Bulldogs Had 17-4 Mark Last Season

Two Veteran Guards Make Poland Tri-County Threat

The Poland Bulldogs, who advanced all the way to the district finals last year before being eliminated 57-54 by the Warren Panthers, have two returning letter men and once again figure to be one of the powers in the Tri-County League.

Poland finished with a 14-4 season record and then won three tournament games before bowing to Warren Harding. The Bulldogs lost several good players, including top scorer Rick Hunneke, from the 1959-60 squad.

However, back to co-captain Coach H. F. Kitzmiller's club this season are a pair of outstanding guards, Bill Zimmer and Bob Lutz. Zimmer, a 5-11 junior, and Lutz, a 5-7 senior, were star backs for the Poland grid powerhouse this past season.

AS A SOPHOMORE cager, Zimmer pumped in 286 points in 22 games. Lutz saw only limited action until about tournament time when he caught fire. He scored 25 points during the regular season and 31 in four tournament games.

Lutz is a great team player. He led the club in assists last year. Zimmer was the second leading scorer and was named to the Tri-County League second team.

Moving up from the reserve squad which posted a 12-4 record will be Dave Barnhizer, 6-3, center. Coach Kitzmiller believes this cager will improve steadily.

Some other boys who saw limited varsity action last year are Ray Lupte, 6-0½ center; Tim Waters, 6-3 forward; and Bob Fitzgerald, 5-9 guard; and Chuck Worsenroft, 5-8 guard.

LUPTE WILL be a late comer because of an ankle injury suffered on the first day of practice. Worsenroft is also temporarily sidelined with an ankle injury. Walters was the top scorer on the reserve team last year which posted a record of 12 wins and only four losses.

Rounding out the squad will be Duncan Ingraham, 5-11 forward who did not play basketball last year; Steve Uhlir, 5-10 forward; and Pat O'Brien, 5-10 guard. Both Uhlir and O'Brien played reserve ball last year.

"This team should improve with experience," Coach Kitzmiller says. "Overall height might be lacking but team spirit and desire by a good bunch of hustling kids could make up for it."

Their Future Depends on You—Your Future Depends on them

Never before has this dovetailing of education with our national future been as imperative as it is today. Yet, many colleges and universities are already crowded. And in ten years the number of college applicants is expected to double. We cannot afford to let students of high promise be turned away for lack of room and lack of teachers.

East Palestine Cagers May Be School's Tallest

Charles "Chick" McBride, new head basketball coach at East Palestine High School, reports that the 1960-61 Bulldog squad may be the tallest in the school's history. Jim McCloskey, 6-5½ senior, is the tallest boy on the squad. Junior Fred Hoaglin is 6-4. Then comes Don Archibald, 6-1½, veteran Jim Hartshorn, 6-1; Neil Winterburn, 6-0; and Jim Massey, 6-0. However, Hartshorn is the only one of these big boys who is pretty much assured of a starting berth on the varsity.

McBride believes that Hartshorn, one of five returning lettermen, has a good chance of making All-Ohio.

The Bulldogs lost three starters from last year's squad which posted a record of 13-5 during the regular season. Lost through graduation were guard Willis Woods, center Chuck Bruno and forward Chuck Robinson.

McBride moves up to the head coaching job at East Palestine after serving three years as reserve mentor. He succeeds Don Hinten who is now coaching at Miami-Trace High School near Washington Court House.

McBride played high school basketball at Columbiana where he was a first stringer for three years, 1947-50. He made all Tri-County two years and received All-Ohio honorable mention his senior year.

East Palestine opens its 1960-61 season on Friday at home against Canfield of the Turnpike Conference.

Dave Hunter Sparkles At William & Mary

The jump from high school basketball to college ball apparently hasn't slowed down former Salem High cager star Dave Hunter.

Playing for the William & Mary freshmen in their annual game against the varsity last week, Hunter tossed in 20 points although his team went down to a 99-65 defeat. Hunter shared high scoring honors with 6-6 Kirt Gooding of the varsity who also hooped 20 markers. Gooding played his high school ball at Lima, O.

On defense Hunter was assigned to guard 6-7 All-American Jeff Cohen and the former Salem flash held his man to 13 points.

Coach Bill Chambers rates Hunter as one of the brightest basketball prospects to enter William & Mary in several years.

Trade Rumors Fly Major League Draft To Be Held Today

LOUISVILLE, Ky. (AP)—The annual draft, the major's election of minor league players for $25,000 apiece, was the first order of business today as baseball opened its 10-day winter convention.

Philadelphia's Phillies, by virtue of finishing in the National League cellar last season, had first pick. They were expected to select a pitcher to help their sagging mound staff.

Kansas City, last in the American League, was next in line at the bargain counter, followed by the other 14 clubs in reverse order of their 1960 finish.

The new Washington team, expected to operate in the American League next year, was granted the right to pick two players. However, it had to wait until the end of the regular draft before making its selections.

Some 1,000 minor leaguers are eligible for the draft, including a flock of first-year men who can be purchased for $12,000 each. All players in Triple A who have been in baseball four years are subject to the draft by the majors at the stipulated $25,000 price.

No more than a dozen or so players were expected to be drafted since four clubs have full rosters of 40 players and can not add any more players. The other 12 clubs have a total of 23 places they may fill.

Rumors of trades began to sift through the corridors of the hotel headquarters with the arrival of the big league brass. Not many deals were expected to be completed here, however, because of commissioner Ford Frick's order freezing the 120 players that the eight American League clubs had made available two weeks ago for stocking new franchises.

Red Hot Barons Cop 3 Straight

The Springfield Indians keep right on winning but for one night at least a rookie and a veteran of 14 seasons grabbed some of the spotlight from the American Hockey League leaders.

The Indians won two games over the weekend, both by 6-2 scores, as they downed Hershey Saturday night and Buffalo Sunday night and maintained their lead of 10 points over the red hot Cleveland Barons. The Barons won their third in as many nights by beating Rochester 4-2 Sunday after defeating Buffalo 6-4 Saturday to take over second place.

But it was rookie Warren Hynes who really went to town. The Hershey right wing fired four goals and set up a fifth in the Bears' 8-2 decision over Providence Sunday night.

Quakers Only Team to Win Pair

Salem Squeaks By Alliance, Massillon in Preview Games

By DICK BRAUTIGAM

The Salem Quakers were the only one of the four teams which took part in the basketball preview here Saturday night to come out unscathed.

With each team playing two eight-minute games, Alliance and Massillon each broke even, Kent Roosevelt lost a pair and the Quakers won both of theirs.

Salem defeated Alliance 11-8 after whipping Massillon 11-9. In the other two frays, Kent lost to Alliance 8-6 and to Massillon 13-12.

The Salem reserves smothered the Salem freshmen, 16-4, in an eight-minute game played during intermission.

Although none of the teams looked too smooth here Saturday, all four gave indications that they will probably be among the better teams in the area this season.

THE QUAKERS performed pretty much as expected at this stage. With senior Don Davidson the only returning letterwinner, the team figured to look a little green—and it did.

Davidson took down scoring honors in the preview with nine points. He hooped three against Massillon and six against Alliance.

Guard Fred Harshman accounted for six of Salem's 11 points against Massillon. The aggressive senior won the game for Salem when he stole the ball near mid-court and drove in all the way for a layup which broke a 9-9 tie. The Tigers had gone into a stall in the final minute and a half, trying for the last shot. Harshman, however, foiled their plans.

Another pleasant surprise for the Quakers in the preview was the hustle and ability displayed by sophomore Bill Beery. Although he scored only two points, Beery showed that he has good actions on the court. Coach John Cabas used him at both guard and forward Saturday.

BOB ESKAY, who is expected to be one of the team's top scorers this year, did not play in the preview because of a bruised heel suffered in practice last week. He was dressed and on the bench on Saturday. The injury doesn't appear to be serious.

McClaskey, saw brief action for Another injured player, Duane the Quakers Saturday. The 6-1 senior suffered a knee injury during the football season and wears a brace on his left knee while playing basketball.

In his starting lineup Saturday, Coach Cabas used Davidson, Harshman, Beery, Ted Thorne and Ted Couchie. The power of this squad is still latent. Thorne and Couchie, both 6-5 cagers, failed to show the aggressiveness displayed by the other three starters, but they both have above average ability which should come out as they gain experience.

Although the Quakers have probably the tallest team in the school's history, they apparently aren't going to have any monopoly on height this year. They didn't look any bigger than the Alliance and Massillon teams they ran up against in the preview.

THERE WAS A LOT of high school football talent on the basketball court here Saturday. Charlie King of Alliance probably led the balloting for the Associated Press All-Ohio grid team which will be announced in a few days.

King is a shifty back who really scoots. He runs with power but doesn't look to weigh anywhere near the advertised 190 pounds.

Bob Wallace, Sam Longmire and Jim Davidson, all of whom played for the Aviator cagers, were also regulars on the football team. Quarterback Wallace is another possible all-state griddier.

Massillon's Jim Houston is another top-notch griddier. Then, of course, Salem's Davidson, Harshman and Beery were no slouches on the gridiron this fall either.

Athletic Director Fred Cope says that paid admissions to the preview Saturday probably were under a thousand. A good many more got in on the cuff.

Eagles Storm From Behind to Defeat Giants, 31-23

Philadelphia Can Clinch Title By Beating Cards Next Week Bears Enter Western Division Picture As 49ers Stun Leading Colts, 30-22

By MIKE RATHET
Associated Press Sports Writer

Beaten by a pair of quick-thinking rookies, the Baltimore Colts today were trying to locate the malfunctioning machinery that threatens to stall their drive for a third consecutive National Football League championship.

The Philadelphia Eagles began preparations for a possible title-clincher this week at St. Louis after Sunday's 31-23 victory over the New York Giants virtually put a lock on their first Eastern Conference crown since 1949.

With three games to go, the

Arnold Palmer Wins Mobile Open Golf Tourney

MOBILE, Ala. (P) — Arnold Palmer now is the top all-time money winner on the PGA tournament tour for a single year — an objective he has long wished to achieve.

The 34-year-old shot maker from Ligonier, Pa., accomplished the cherished ambition Sunday by taking the Mobile Open Golf Tournament with one of his fabulous finishes just as he did the Masters and the Pensacola Open earlier this year.

The Mobile victory was worth $2,000. This brought his earnings on the official tournament circuit to $73,716.19 and surpassed the $72,835.83 figure set by Ted Kroll of Fort Lauderdale, Fla., in 1956.

In all, Palmer played in 25 tournaments this year. He won 8 of them and finished among the top five players 16 times. Sam Snead set the pro circuit record in 1950 when he took nine tournaments.

Eagles (8-1) are 2 1/2 games ahead of the Giants and Cleveland Browns, who lost an opportunity to take over the runner-up spot when they were tied 17-17 by the improving Cardinals.

The Colts were upset by San Francisco 30-22 when rookie end Dee Mackey took a 16-yard pass from the third-string quarterback Bobby Waters, then laterally to R. C. Owens for a 41-yard touchdown play with only a minute and a half remaining.

The loss left Baltimore (6-3) with a slim half-game edge over the onrushing Chicago Bears. The Bears whipped winless Dallas 17-7 for a 5-31 record and kept a slight lead over idle Green Bay and the 49ers, tied for third with 5-4 marks.

Pittsburgh defeated Washington 22-10 in the only other game scheduled. Detroit, which beat the Packers Thanksgiving Day, also was idle and Los Angeles drew a bye.

Johnny Unitas threw three touchdown strikes for the Colts—10 yards to Ray Berry, 6 to Alex Hawkins and 65 to Lenny Moore—but the Baltimore quarterback had five aeriels intercepted and lost the ball once on a fumble.

The Eagles came from behind twice for their second triumph over the Giants on successive weekends as Norm Van Brocklin passed for three touchdowns. His second to Ted Dean, a 49-yarder in the fourth quarter, pulled Philadelphia and third-period field goals by one-and-third-period field goals by Pat Summerall put New York out for 23-17.

The Giants, defending Eastern champions, had built an early 17-0 lead on TD heaves of 71 and 11 yards from sub quarterback George Shaw to Kyle Rote and a Sammerall field goal, but were unable to match the Eagles in the second half.

The Bears took a 7-0 lead over Dallas (0-10) in the first period on Rick Casares' five-yard touchdown run, then clinched it in the second quarter on a 20-yard scoring pitch from Ed Brown to Johnny Morris. The Cowboys' lone touchdown came on a 64-yard pass from Don Heinrich to Don McIlhenry.

Tom Tracey kicked field goals of 37, 31 and 26 yards and raced 28 yards for a touchdown in the Steelers' (4-5-1) triumph against punchless Washington (1-6-2). The Redskins got their only TD when Dick James hauled in a 49-yard aerial from Ralph Guglielmi.

included half a dozen others who saw only limited service this year, but figure to move up next fall.

"We've got the big backs you need in the Western Conference," Godfrey summarizes, "and we needed linemen and we got some."

Godfrey, alarmed over Ohio State's recruiting setbacks a few years ago, rubs his hands in a future of relish and grins: "We're getting some horses. I'm happy about the future."

The "big backs" are Paul Warfield, All-Ohio phenom from Warren, who packs only 178 fantastically co-ordinated pounds on a 6-foot frame, but is expected to play at about 185 next year; Matt Snell, 6-1, 210-pound prize from Long Island; Tony Hall, 5-10, 185 pound brother of Olympic diver Sam Hall, from Dayton; Vince Eysoldt, 6-2, 210, from Springfield; and Willy Jones, 5-11, 185, also from Warren.

Another Blanchard-Davis?

"Warfield and Snell — well," Godfrey sputters, fumbling momentarily for superlatives, "they're the greatest 1-2 punch we've ever had at this school. They're another Blanchard-Davis, as a combination."

The Warfield-Snell halfbacking combination may be broken up, however, without Godfrey's blessing.

Hayes has come up, as he has so often in the past, without an experienced replacement at quarterback. He's never been one to "promote" a success and this year was no exception. Tom Matte

National Championship Still in Doubt

Major Bowls Filled; Navy To Meet Missouri in Orange

By ED CORRIGAN
Associated Press Sports Writer

With all the major bowls filled, the only question remaining on the college football front today was:

Who is the national champion? There are three major candidates.

1. Minnesota. The Gophers climbed all the way from the Big Ten basement last year to a tie with Iowa for the title this season. They wound up with an 8-1 record and were the only team to beat Iowa during the season. They were picked to oppose Washington in the Rose Bowl and were selected as No. 1 in last week's Associated Press poll.
2. Iowa. The Hawkeyes finished just seven points behind Minnesota in last week's poll. They also had an 8-1 record and permitted only Minnesota and Wisconsin to score more than one touchdown. In only one game (against Minnesota) did they score less than three touchdowns.
3. Mississippi. The Rebels wound up their season last Saturday with a solid 35-9 conquest over Mississippi State. They finished behind Minnesota and Iowa in last week's poll but wound up the season as the only team in the top 10 that managed to escape defeat. Their season record was 9-0-1. The tie was a 6-6 standoff with Louisiana State.

Of the three Iowa is the only one out in the cold in the scramble for bowl bids. Big Ten teams are permitted to play only in the Rose Bowl and the selection of Minnesota left the Hawkeyes on the outside looking in.

Here is how the major bowl picture shapes up.

Rose—Washington (9-1) vs. Minnesota (8-1).

Cotton—Arkansas (8-2) vs. Duke (7-2).

Sugar—Mississippi (9-0-1) vs. Rice (8-2).

Orange—Missouri (9-1) vs. Navy (9-1).

Gator—Baylor (8-2) vs. Florida (8-2).

The Pauline family cleaned up in the Saxon Mixed Up Bowling league at Saxon Lanes Saturday.

Bill Pauline Sr. paced the men with a rousing 610 series while Kate Pauline came up with a 445 set which was best among the women. Bill's 610 series came on games of 218-185-207. Kate's high game was 158. Both bowl for Foreman's Window Cleaning which snowed under Sovereign Tool & Die four points to none.

In other games, Spack's Alum. was blanked 4-0 by Select Dairies; Paul & Gene's took a 3-1 decision from Suburban and Bieber's and Saxon Lanes divided four points each.

Foreman's 2361 was the high team series score. An 861 by Bieber's was the high team single game.

Some of the high individual scores were turned in by Jim Kirkham, 586—192-213-181; Chester Mellinger, 520-200; Art Tontsch, 517-2233; and Bill Pauline, Jr., 511. Tontsch's 223 was the high single game effort.

Among the women, Jenny Lindner posted a 424-171; and Florence Kirkham came through with a 420-153. Millie Lutsch carded a 170 single game, just one pin off the Liberty — Penn State (6-3) vs. Oregon (7-2-1).

Bluebonnet — Alabama (8-1-1) vs. Texas (7-3).

Sun—New Mexico State (10-0) vs. Utah State (9-1).

With all the scrambling for teams after Saturday's games, the Orange Bowl probably got the prize plum in Navy. Right after the Middles whipped Army, 17-12, to wrap up the Eastern title, they accepted a bid to the Miami game on Jan. 2.

Mississippi decided to return to the Sugar Bowl after winning the Southeastern Conference championship again. Ole Miss will be favored over Rice, which finished operations with a 12-7 beating at the hands of Baylor.

Alabama was tapped to oppose Texas in the Bluebonnet Bowl in Houston Dec. 17 right after the Crimson Tide edged Auburn, 3-0, on Tom Brooker's field goal.

The Sun Bowl tapped New Mexico State, one of the two major teams in the country to wind up unbeaten and untied. The Aggies defeated Texas Western, 27-15, in their final game. Yale was the only other major school to get through its schedule unscathed.

With the talent spread so thin over the eight major bowls, the proposed Gotham Bowl in New York, scheduled for Dec. 10, probably will be called off for another year.

The big one Saturday was the Army-Navy game in Philadelphia and it went off pretty much as expected. Navy did all its scoring in the first half on a 4-yard buck by Joe Bellino, a 27-yard field goal by Greg Mather and a 12-yard pass from Hal Spooner to Jim Luper.

Army woke up in the second half and dominated the proceedings. Al Rushatz bulldozed over from the 1 for two touchdowns. In the end, Bellino had to intercept a pass on the goal line and run it back to the 45 to pull the Middles out of danger.

Notre Dame broke an eight-game losing streak by downing Southern California, 17-0, but the Virginia losing skein went on. The Cavaliers took it on the chin from North Carolina, 35-8, for their 27th straight loss. Oklahoma finished a miserable season (the first time in 12 years they haven't been champions of the Big Eight) by defeating Oklahoma State, 17-6. In a major upset, the Air Force Academy decided Colorado 16-6.

Davis Cup Team Preps for Italy

McKinley, Ralston Brighten U.S. Hopes

MELBOURNE (AP) — The United States Davis Cup Team was put on a war footing today 10 days before the crucial match with Italy in the interzone finals.

At the same time, captain David Freed gave instructions that youngsters Dennis Ralston of Bakersfield, Calif. and Chuck McKinley of St. Louis be whipped into top competitive shape.

Ralston and McKinley shot themselves solidly into Uncle Sam's Davis Cup doubles picture today by beating Australia's number two team, Bob Howe and Rod Laver, 12-14, 7-5, 6-2, 7-5, in a quarterfinal match of the Victorian Tournament.

America's top players, Barry MacKay of Dayton, Ohio and Earl Buchholz of St. Louis, also moved into the semifinal round by defeating Bob Mark and Robert Hewitt of Australia 6-2, 6-2, 2-6, 9-7.

MacKay and Buchholz, as well as McKinley are in the singles quarterfinals scheduled Tuesday. Buchholz faces Laver and McKinley meets Nicola Pietrangeli of Italy.

Knicks, Warriors Win

Big O Hoops 42, But Royals Lose

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Better late than never.

That's what the New York Knickerbockers and Philadelphia Warriors are probably saying today.

The Knickerbockers, cellar-dwellers in the Eastern Division of the National Basketball Association, have won their last two after managing only two victories in their first 17 games.

Sunday night, New York frittered away an 11-point halftime lead but recovered to beat Cincinnati 122-118 in overtime. Willie Naulls sank six points and Richie Guerin five in the extra period. Oscar Robertson had 4 points for the Royals.

Philadelphia was almost two hours late in arriving for its game with the Lakers in Los Angeles.

But plane trouble didn't keep Wilt Chamberlain from propelling the Warriors to a 113-106 victory, scoring 41 points.

The Warriors, who moved to within a half game of Boston, the Eastern Division leader, got a clutch basket from Guy Rodgers with two minutes remaining after Los Angeles had closed a 10-point gap to a single point.

Jim Krebs, had 25 points for the Lakers. Elgin Baylor, the Los Angeles ace, had 22.

Their triumphs wound up successful week-ends for the Knicks and Warriors. New York be at Detroit 127-119 and Philadelphia trounced Cincinnati 138-138 Saturday. In other Saturday games, St. Louis beat Los Angeles 126-113 and Boston walloped Syracuse 129-110.

1961 OSU Grid Prospects Look Bright

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — If Coach Woody Hayes can try out a freshman quarterback candidate an hour after the Michigan game, a week later shouldn't be too early to squire speculatively toward Ohio State's 1961 football prospects.

The outlook, 307 days from the TCU kick-off, can be capulsed as "at least as good as 1960—but probably better."

"Ben Schwartzwalder (Syracuse coach) told me a year ago that with the two-team system you never get murdered by graduation," Hayes remarked Saturday as he and freshman coach Ernie Godfrey listed prospects returning and upcoming. "We lost 20 seniors, some fine athletes. But we'll have a good start for next year."

Five places will be open on the offensive unit, five on the defensive unit. But, thanks to the platoon system, Hayes will have half a dozen experienced hands available in addition to the dozen '60 regulars on which to build for 1961. He has nine men returning who played 200 minutes or more, six others 100 minutes and over.

That could be called a substantial nucleus.

Godfrey stipulates that "this year's freshman squad is different, but it's going to make as much contribution to the varsity as last year's squad did."

'59 Fresh Crop Was Best

The '59 yearling crop, considered the best in Hayes' 10-year tenure, sent up five starters and a total of eight who played 100 game minutes or more. It also played about 95 per cent of the offensive quarterback role.

Since Matte convinced him that a quarterback should be a good runner, Hayes is thinking seriously of converting Warfield. The latter's half-hour workout a week ago Saturday (after the Michigan game) convinced Hayes all the more that Warfield may be his next running-passing field general.

Even Godfrey concedes the Warren whiz might be pretty fabulous on the roll-out options where Matte gained 682 yards rushing and 737 passing. This switch also would mean that Bob Klein could switch to left half, where he might be more effective, with Snell taking over at right half and Bob Ferguson still handling the full-back chores.

Joe Sparma Can Pass

Joe Sparma, 6-2, 190-pound All-Ohioan who led Massillon for three years, is the No. 1 freshman quarterback, followed by Larry Marmie, Barnesville. Sparma, is described as a "better than average passer, but no Matte as a runner." He would join Bill Mrukowski and John Mummy as the leading quarterback candidates, if Warfield stays at halfback.

Buckeye graduation losses in mid-line worry Hayes most. The first three offensive guards will be gone; so will Jim Tyrer, offensive tackle and defensive middle guard; Alan Fiers, defensive tackle; and Jim Lindner, defensive center.

Godfrey thinks he has some husky youngsters who will be ready to plug some gaps by next September.

Jim Bearss, 6-3, 215 - pounder from Toledo, is the best of the tackles and listed as a sure help-a-guy. Another is Dennis Hullinger, 6-3, 200 - pound Lima product. Chuck Mamula, 6-3, 225-pounder from Martins Ferry, still ranks high. He was All-Ohio, but has come along slow this fall. Bernie Stanley, 6-foot, 230, from Proctorville, was hurt this fall, but may help. So could Lloyd Corbin, 6-foot, 245-pound Springfielder, a "walk-in" (meaning he wasn't recruited but came out on his own).

Jim Parker's Brother May Play

Tom Jenkins, 6-1, 220, from Dayton, is considered a "sure shot" at guard and others rated high-potential are Al Parker, 6-foot, 218 from Dover; Delynne Wall, 6-foot, 215, from Cincinnati; and Ron Carter, 6-1, 190, from Washington Court House. Parker, brother of 1954-55 Ohio State stand-out Jim Parker, has a heart condition that might rule him out. If he's cleared for duty, he could be a good one.

With Gabe Hartman, Oscar Hauer and Don Young gone, Gary Moeller and Bob Butts are the only guards with any experience returning and their offensive experience was very limited. Sophomores will have a golden opportunity.

Dennis Carter, 6-1, 220, from Springfield, is tabbed for prime consideration at center. If he should move in, as Billy Joe Armstrong did this year, Armstrong could be switched to the vacant linebacking spot. Bug Godfrey has a candidate for the latter job; 6-foot, 210-pound Wes Mirick of Grandview, whom Godfrey calls "the best line prospect of them all."

With Ferguson, Roger Detrick, Dave Katterhenrich and Dave Francis all back, Hayes won't need much fullback help. But he'll have two good ones in Woody Hall, 6-1, 205, from Ironton, who has "better speed than Ferguson," and Doug Lyons, 6-1, 200, from Parma.

End isn't a hopeful position for a freshman either, with Chuck Bryant, Bob Middleton, Tom Perdue, Sam Tidmore, Larry Stephens and George Wittmer returning. Bug Godfrey believes Ormand Ricketts, 6-1, 188 from Springfield, may push 'em, and that Keith Smith, 6-3, 214, from Dayton, is an excellent pass receiver as well as a terrific punter. Dick Van Raaphorst, 6-1, 229, from Ligonier, Pa., is another.

As always, the yearling roster is dotted with youngsters who haven't been mentioned here, but who might be mentioned more as spring and fall practice progress.

"We'll have a good football team," Hayes nodded reassuringly after this brief rundown of prospects. And he went back to planning for spring practice.

Wise Man Prepares Now Now for Winter's Onslaught

Coping with winter emergencies is something you learn through experience. But the learning can be easier if you provide yourself with the proper supplies ahead of time.

You'll need more than a snow shovel and rock salt.

Flashlight
Consider the possibility of a power failure. Provide yourself with flashlights located in accessible places. That gasoline lantern you thought you wouldn't be using until you go fishing again should be kept handy.

If you own a camp stove, so much the better.

If your water supply is pumped in from a well, as it is in many new suburban as well as older rural communities, you'll have to be prepared to melt and filter snow and ice for your water.

In case the power failure involves lines down close to your home stay clear of them.

If you have a fireplace that works, be sure to have a supply of wood on hand. But make certain that it's in working order now, before you need it.

Windows
A broken window any time of the year can be a problem, but during a cold spell it can be a real health hazard as well. Sheets of plastic, often sold to make do-it-yourself storm windows, can close the opening temporarily. Be sure to have tape or adhesive and staples or nails to secure the material.

Shingles
A few shingles may get torn loose in a high wind. This is obviously no time to crawl out there to repair the damage. Have a can of roof cement, the heavy kind that you trowel on, to apply to the underside of the sheathing boards in the attic. Put a piece of tar paper over that and tack in place. The job will last until weather permits permanent repairs.

If you haven't done so already, shut off the water supply to outdoor faucets and open them to drain to avoid freezing. It's possible, of course, for other pipes in the house to freeze. If they do, apply heat slowly after first opening the faucet.

Thawing
A soldering iron, a hair drier, electric cable, heat lamp, even boiling water over a rag-wrapped pipe will do the trick. Avoid using a blow torch. Not only is there a danger of fire, but the heat may thaw the pipe too quickly, cause steam to form which would burst the pipe.

If a pipe does crack, you may be able to repair it temporarily with a length of garden hose and pipe clamps. Eventually, the section of pipe will have to be cut out and replaced.

If ice forms due to clogged drains and downspouts you'll have to thaw (electric cable, chemicals) or chop out the ice.

Drafts may develop that you never noticed before. While this is not time for elaborate installation of weatherstripping, inexpensive felt can be tacked up quickly for temporary use.

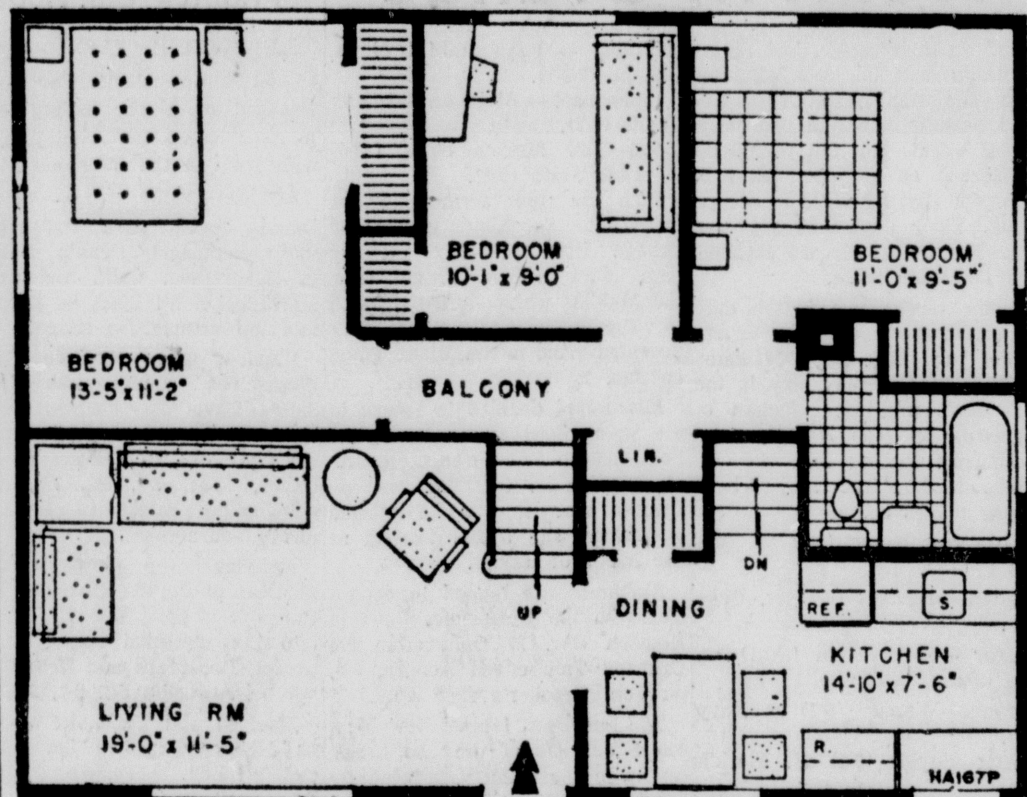

Cracks and opening in the walls and foundations can be filled with caulk. But be sure to keep your filled caulk gun indoors where it's warm so that it will be ready for use.

Check These Areas for Living Space

Most families would answer with a hearty "yes" if asked whether they would like more living space in their homes. However, many wouldn't know where to find it. The answer might well be in the basement, attic, or an all-but-forgotten porch.

A house may lack any of these possibilities because of its construction or, because of present use, one or more of these areas may be out of the question. However, the Western Pine Association or re-organization might release basement space, a hard-hearted tossing out of junk might free some of the attic, and the sacrificing of a little-used porch could produce that much-needed room.

Lumber and lumber paneling are excellent for giving a new lease on life to any of these locations. The 11 different kinds of wood that come from the western pine region offer, in themselves, an excellent range of choice, and they will take any finish a family may prefer. Thus, they are fine not only for wall paneling but also for built-ins that make even more of the available space. They also are economical and easy to work with.

SPLIT LEVEL ON BUDGET — This ranch type home is designed for the family with moderate means. Living, dining and kitchen areas are on the main level. Seven steps lead to a gallery off which are three bedrooms and a bath. A utility room and an all-purpose room, ideal for a child's playroom or an adult entertainment room, are below the main level. The architect is Samuel Paul, 89-51 164 St., Jamaica, N.Y., and the plan is HA167P.

Insulation Effective Weapon In War Against Cold Floors

Cold floors in a home built over a crawl space usually mean insufficient insulation in the floors. The same is true when owners of split-level houses are troubled with cold floors in the sleeping area over an unheated garage.

Fortunately, this construction flaw can be remedied quickly and easily by the home owner himself, using mineral wool batts or blankets and a few rolls of hardware cloth or chicken wire. Here's how insulation engineers say the job should be done:

Start in one corner of the crawl space or garage, securing the end of a roll of chicken wire or hardware cloth to the sill. Wedge a section of insulation tightly between the joists with the vapor barrier up and the lower side on a level with the bottom edge of the joists.

Continue along the joists, fitting the insulation in place and stapling the wire to the lower edge of the joists so that it supports the batt or blanket. Keep this up until the opposite sill is reached, then continue the job in the other direction.

It's important to make sure there are no gaps between sections of insulation, and that it fits snugly between the joists.

Time can be saved if chicken wire or hardware cloth is purchased in 48-inch rolls. This width permits the wire to cover three joist spaces.

After the insulation is in place, cover the bare ground in a crawl space with 55-pound asphalt roll roofing lapped at least three inches between sections and at the edges of the foundation. The asphalt keeps moisture from rising out of the ground into the crawl space.

Sometimes Homeowner Must Spend Money to Save Money

Sometimes you have to spend money to save money. This is especially true in the matter of heating your house. It costs money to install weatherstripping or storm windows and doors or insulation or, better yet, all three. But there is no doubt that taking any or all of these steps will save you money in the long run.

Irrespective of budget limitation there are a number of other things you can do to allow your heating plant to operate efficiently and thus keep your fuel bills to a minimum.

FIRST OF ALL, YOU have to make sure that the warmth generated by your oil burner or other heating unit stays in the house. Don't open outside doors and windows indiscriminately. If you sleep with the windows open, keep the bedroom door closed. Otherwise you will be gathering up your heating dollars from all over the house and sending them out into the night air by way of the open bedroom windows.

When you are cleaning and airing a room, close the door to the rest of the house. If, for instance, you are airing out the upstairs bathroom, a sure way to pull the heat out of the downstairs hall is to leave that bathroom door open.

To allow the heat to circulate properly, keep furniture away from radiators or registers. Entirely aside from fuel economy, this step will prevent the furniture joints from pulling apart.

by now that the thermostat should be located properly to get a true reading of the house's heating needs. But we've heard differences of opinion on how much, if any, a thermostat should be lowered during the night. We asked the Oil Heating Institute for its opinion and got this reply: To conserve fuel, set the thermostat about 7 degrees below the daytime setting. And when going away for several days or more, lower the thermostat setting to 55 degrees.

The city of Cleveland was founded in 1796 by General Moses Cleveland, head surveyor for the Connecticut Land Co. Land in northern Ohio then cost 40 cents an acre; now an acre in downtown Cleveland is worth more than $2 million.

The Doctor Says

By Dr. H. T. HYMAN
How Nurses Pick Doctors

Many years ago, I learned a valuable lesson from a nurse who had spent several years in the hospital delivery room before she herself became pregnant.

When I'd completed the prenatal examination, she requested, she told me she'd chosen for her obstetrician a staff member I scarcely knew. A modest and retiring man, he seemed to come and go without attracting any particular attention. He was, besides, a bachelor and I held a prejudice against referring a prospective mother to an unmarried obstetrician.

Noting my surprise at her choice, my nurse-patient hastened to justify her selection on the grounds that he was "a good siter."

SHE WENT ON to explain that her obstetrician had won the respect and confidence of the entire nursing staff because he responded quickly and gracefully when summoned, never "hurried things along" or "held them back" to suit his own convenience.

Immediately after birth of the child, he preferred to remain with mother and child, seeing to their comfort and safety, instead of hastening downstairs to strut before an admiring group of assembled relatives.

To the surprise of no member of the nursing staff, he had an unblemished record of successful deliveries and a small and devoted following of mothers who "had him before."

"AND I'LL TELL you something more that may surprise you," she continued. "If any of us needs surgery, the man we'd choose would be —." And she named another member of the staff of whom I knew no more than I did about her obstetrician.

"He never goes in unless he's sure it's necessary or, at least, wise. He never starts until the anesthetist says the patient is ready. He never hurries. He never shows off even if some visitor happens to come in to observe. When he gets in a jam, he doesn't bawl out his assistants."

"He doesn't do any teaching so he doesn't have to divide his attention between students and patient. He never looks at the clock like some whose main interest seems to be breaking the course record for the procedure."

"HE STAYS with postoperatives until they're fully reacted. When his patients get to bed, he positions them until they're quite comfortable before he leaves the building. He sees his patients first thing in the morning and just before he turns in for the night. And that includes weekends and holidays."

"When he writes 'uneventful recovery' on the discharge card, you can bet your hat it has been just that."

"He may not cut much of a figure with the rest of the staff or the hospital trustees, but he tops in our league. And it just might be that we know more about our doctors than those of you who are a lot smarter and better trained."

In case you're in the market for a baby or some elective surgery, I thought you might like to get the real "inside dope" on how to pick a doctor.
